Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those aeleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

Legislative Dimensions.

In yesterday's impression we showed that cur local contemporary asserted the willingness of himself and the colony to accept the 'six-by-nine constitution,' provided the nine were elected by 'registered, residental manhood'; and we, at the same time, intimated that such a constitution was satisfactory neither to ourselves nor to the colonists. This last proposition of our contemporary stands in strange contrast with his recent appeal to the colorists to reject at the polls any candidate who would not pledge himself to refuse to vote the supplies until the Council was composed of thirty elected members. These are the two extremes presented by a man of extreme views-an impossible politician. Leaving him in his nine-by-thirty dilemma, we beg to adopt a sort of intermediate proposition, and go in for twenty. It has been repeatedly stated by our contemporary that nothing less than thirty elected members would suffice to carry out Responsible Government. We saret that, under present circumstances, twenty would be ample. Let us look at other British communities on this continent. Commencing with the smaller Provinces of the Dominion, New Brunawick has a population of 252,000 and she has 42 members in her Legislature. Nova Scotia has a popular tion of 331,000 and has 39 members. Prince Edward Island, not yet in the Dominion, has a population of 81,000 and has 31 members in the Legislature. Newfoundland has a population of 124,. 000, and 31 members in the Legislature. British Columbia has a population of ten thousand, and how many representatives should it have in the local Legislature? In Nova Scotia, for instance, there is one member for every 8487 people. According to this basis of representation British Columbia would only be entitled to one member! But, inasmuch as one member would be obviously inadequate for the purposes of carrying out Responsible Government, the population basis could not be carried out here, as in the more populous Provinces. We must, therefore, look to the necessities of the case, and soe how many members would be necessary to work out the system of Respon-sible Government, alto ether irrespec-tive of population; for it must be clear that in our case population can scarcely be recognized as the sole basis of representation. It can hardly be successfully asserted that a Legislature composed of twenty members would not be ample. Five could form the Cabinet; and there would be fifteen left as independent members to support or oppose the Government, as circumstances might appear to dictate. With the populated portions of the colony laid off into twenty electoral districts, there is no reason to question that all the interests would be fairly represented. Our contemporary has recently come to the conclusion that 'every interest would be represented' with nine elective members; but we must say that we cannot altogether concur in that view. The News. The European sky would seem to be assuming a more larid complexion day by day, and the hope that the present struggle would be kn wn in history only as the Franco-Prussian war is proportionately decreasing. Confining the view to the two nations now engaged in deadly conflict, the case is, indeed, a gloomy one. France united would find a formidable foe in Prussia; but France divided can have little hope of successfully grappling with such a powerful enemy. On the other hand, the divisions which have so plainly manifested themselves in France furnish a fresh excuse -- may we not say additional reasons ?- for Prussia following up her advantage. In truth, how is it possible for Prussia to treat for terms of peace? With whom can Bismarck treat? With Jules Favre? He has not been authorized to treat in the name of the nation?

With Napoleon? He is de facto still Emperor, having neither abdicated nor been deposed; but he is practically debeen deposed; but he is practically de-throned, and, therefore, powerless to treat. Besides, he is a prisoner in the hands of the enemy. With the Empress Regent? She is a fugitive in a foreign country, and the nation would not recognize her acts. With the Provisional Government? It has no constitutional existence; and even It has no constitutional existence; and even it Bismarck should choose to recognize it and treat with it, the nation might, with perfect consistency, refuse to be bound by its nots. With the People's Committee? Occhalf of the nation would discoun its authority at first, and the other half whenever it cuited its purpose. Were negotiations with any or all of these to result in a cessation of or all of these to result in a cessation of hostilities and a patched-up peace, the Prussians back to their own country and the Imperial prisoner set free, what would there be to hinder France to recall Napoleon to the throne and renew the war? Should the basis of peace be cession of French tenitory, a renewal of hostilities would, in all probability, become a sine qua non to the retention of power by any Government. Having regard to these by no means impossible contingencies, it may not be too much sible contingencies, it may not be too much to say that Bismarck is determined to place to say that Bismarck is determined to place the heel of Prussia upon the heart of France as the only means of attaining assured and lasting peace. The situation is a terrible one; but it was a terrible crime that evolved it. Turning for a moment from the sicken-ing sight now presented on French soil, we see a war cloud rising on the Adriatic. It see a war cloud rising on the Adriato. It was idlimated the other day that there was reason for believing that a secret treaty exists between Prussia and her two powerful neighbors on the east. The existence of such a treaty cannot well be doubted. Its precise nature the sequel will alone reveal. Present movements would, however, appear to indicate that the price of Russian particular is to be the long-covered Turkey. neutrality is to be the long-coveted Turkey; and it is not improbable that Austria will find compensation in the Danubian Provinces. Should such an arrangement oron out, who shall say may? Great Britain will scarcely again involve herself in war in order to bolster up the 'rick man,' and even if she should be disposed to object to such an alteration in the map of Europe, why, Egypt would possibly slop the mouth of the Lion.

Napeleon's Prison House.

Wilhelmshohe, or William's Hights, the summer residence of the Elector of Hesse-Cassel and now the residence to which Louis Napoleon has been assigned by the King of Prussia, is of peculiar interest to readors. The place was built by Fredrick II Elector of Hesse, out of the money received by him of George Illeof England, for the 17,000 Hessians hired by King George, as Elector of Hanover. Out of these 17,000, 5000 were sent inte Scotland to maintain English ausent into Scottand to maintain English au-thority there and 12,000 were sent to Ameri-ca to fight the colonists in the war for inde-pendence. The labor and expense of build-ing Wilhelmshohe were enormous. It is said that it required the work of two thou-sand men for louteen years and that the accounts were so large that they ware de-stroyed by fire to remove all trace of the exstroyed by fire to remove all trace of the extravagance.

The mountain is the second highest in Europe-that of Chatsworth being the first, The medieval ruins, the aquatic stairway, the temple of the winds surmounted by a colossal statue of Hercules, made of copper, over thirty feet high, the grounds and par-terres about the palace, all show an enor-mous expenditure of money. The 'Hights' are about two thousand feet above the level

It is a singular coincidence that a vanish-ed French Emperor should be assigned this palace by a German King, remembering that the Elector Fredrick II was driven out of Hesse and obliged to take refuge in Frankfort.

The particulars of Napolecn's arrival at

The particulars of Napolecn's arrival at Wilbelmshohe are thus given in a dispatch from Ostend of the 11th inst. The statement is taken from a Hesse Cassel paper.

The Emperor was accompanied by Gens. Felix Dousy and Lebruo, as prisoners on parole, and a brilliant, staff of French officers on parole. The Prussian civil and military authorities of Hesse Cassel, in full uniform, reactived them at the station with a company of infantry as a guard of honor, and a squadron of hussars to keep back the crowd. The Emperor, who was received with an Imperial salute, wore the uniform of a LieutenantGeneral, but no sword. His breast was covered with orders and he wore an undress scarlet kept. He is quite corpulent and looks very grey.

The Prussian authorities surrounded the Emperor's journey to Withelmshohe with an exquisite delicacy of care and provision for the diguity and feeling of the prisoner.

Advices from Cassel say nothing in the magnificent treatment of Napoleon would denote that he was required as a present. that he was regarded as a prisoner. He seems rather an honored guest of Prussia.

General Wimpsien's Unenviable Position.

BRUSSELS, Sept 6—Graeral Wimpffen, who surrendered Sedan and the army of McMahon, has made an explanation of his connection with the negotiations for the capitulation of the fortress, of which the following is a history: General Wimpffen had only arrived in France turn days (com Alocaic when he was in France two days, from Algeria, when he wa ordered to a command under McMahon. He hastened to join the command to which he had been assigned, and arrived at Sedan: Here he found that Marshal McMahon was suffering from severe wounds in his hip and back resulting from the explosion of a shell, the tragments of which had struck him, incapaci tragments of which had struck him, incapaciating him from the active direction of the movements of thegrand army. General Wimpffen was thus compelled to assume the command of an army which was already beaten.
Though ignorant of the position, he still refused to sign articles of capitulation. The Prussians produced a map, which showed the position of the German troops and batteries, and convinced him that the destruction of the French troops was invertable. Then, and then only, was the surrender concluded upon.
General Wimpffen feelingly declared, 'and now my name will go down to history, for all time, linked with that humiliating capitulation.'

THAT BOAT RACE .- Our contemporary is still fishing in troubled waters anent the great Boat Race. Yesterday the paltry felow reiterated his statement that our exclusive dispatch did not come direct from Montreal. Will the reader believe that our contemporary grounds his assertion upon the fact that telegrams coming a long distance have to be repeated three or four times be ore they reach their destination—consequently they can't ropeated three or four times be ore they reach their destination—consequently they can't come 'direct'? Was ever such quibbling heard of, before on the part of a man claiming a fair shere of brains and respectability? His possistence reminds us of the thief who was arraigned and pleaded Not Guilty.

Three witnesses having been sworn, the fellow's guilt was proved beyond the shadow of a doubt and the jury convicted him without leaving the box.

PLAGIARISM. - Our local contemporary charges us with plagiarism, and has been good enough to exhibit our own article alongside of one from the Bulletin by way of substantiating the charge. We are glad that he has exhibited these articles, because those who take sufficient interest in the matter to compare them will readily perceive that any similarity which may exist is confined to those portions essentially historical and which no person of average intelligence would ever dream of accepting as the original product of the brain or memory of the editor of the Colonist, or the Bulletin, or even the Standard! That a siriking similarity may exist between a portion of our own article and that of the Bulletin need surprise no one, inasmuch as it is not at all improbable that, in both instances the historical facts were compiled from the same work—a standard work of recent date, at our elbow, through which a property is stantiating the charge. We are glad that he hardly be needful to add that such articles are usually compiled from standard works; nor is it customary to state from what source, whether the articles appear in the Bulletin or Times. If, in this, we have been guilty of plagarism, then is that crime as universal as journalism. The editor of the Standard would do well to bestow a little more attention upon his own leaders, and less upon those of his neighbors. hardly be needful to add that such articles are

THE TELEGRAPH REPAIRERS.—The telegraph reconstructors reached the Victoria office yesterday. They started from the town of Vancouver on the Columbia River on the 1st of March, and have since that date pushed ahead with the highest rate of speed compatible with the proper repair of the line. In many places new poles had to be erected, new insulaters supplied, new sections of wire substituted, trees felled and trails cut. At some points so formidable were the obstacles encountered that merching was exceedingly slow; and so formidable were the obstacles encountered that traveling was exceedingly slow; and during the prevalence of the late devastating forest-fires, the repairers for several days fought the fire and finally succeeded in beating it back from the line. It is exactly 207 days since the repairers cut loose from civilization and plunged into the dense forrests of the neighboring territory. That they have performed their duty in a most creditable manner the present efficient state of the line attests.

THE ANGLO-COLONIAL ROWING MATCH. Speaking of the rowing match [which, by the way, our friend of the Standard don't believe has yet come off a New York paper says :has yet come off a New York paper says:—

fA special correspondent writes from Montreal, a description of two splendid crews from Type, England, and St Johns New Branswick, which are to row in the great four cared race at Lachine on the 15th of September. This contest is international in its character and is exciting great interest in England. The English rowers, Renforth, Taylor, Marlin and Winship, have acrived in Montreal from the old country. The two styles of rowing. English and American, as exhibited in the Oxford Harvard match, will be preserved. The Englishmen bring over a Type boat. The American boat was built at Green Point, New York.

LOND N, Sept 23 - The Prussian Monitour an official organ published at Berlin, contains this morning two notes from Bismarck to the amba sadors of neutral powers to the North German Confederation. The first note, dat-ed 13th, urges the necessity for better and more material guarantees against a new at tack by the French, especially upon the States of South Germany, Bavaria, Wurtem-burg and Baden. In the second note Bis-marck repudiates all idea of German intervention for the reorganization of France, but ays if Strasbourg and Metz remain in French hands, the power offensive of France will be superior to the power defensive of Germany. These material guarantees alone will give peace.

Chemists to H. I. H. Prince Napoleon

PARIS.

These different medicines represent the most recent medical discoveries, founded on the principles of Chemistry and therapeutics. They must not be confunded with scret or quack mo iches, as their names sufficiently indicate their composition; a circumstance which has caused them to be appreciated and prescribed by the faculty in the whole world. They widely differ from those numerous medicines advertised in the public paper a able to cure every possible disease, as they are applicable only to but a very few completiats. The most stringent laws exist in France, with regard to the sale of medical preparations, and only those which have under gone an examination by the Academy of Medicine, and have been proved efficacious, either in the Hospitais. or in the practice of the first medical men, areauthorised by the Government. This fact must be a guarantee for the excellency of Messas. Gumania & Co's medicines.

Women's and Children's Diseases.

Grimault's Syrup of Iodized

Horse Radish.

Patronized for more than twenty years by the Paris Physicians, Cures lymphatism, rachitism, scrofula congestion of the glands of the neck, paleness and flabiness of the flesh, loss of appetite, weakness of constitution, the various cruptions on the face, boils, pimples (things,—It is the best remedy against the first stage for sumption, and t is the most powerful depurative known.

SOLUBLE PHOSPHATE OF IRON.

Clear as spring water and tasteless; has the advan-tage over all ferruginous preparations of containing Iron and Phosphoreus, which are the elements of the blood, it cures chlorosis, pains in the stomach, difficult digest tions, dismenor thea, anemains, general debility and poor-ness of the blood, and agrees especially with the mos-delicate stomachs.

LING DISEASES.

Grimault's Syrup of Hypo-

phosphite of Lime.

It is the best and the most rational of all remedies against consumption. Under its influence the cough abates, the night sweats cease, and the patient rapidly recovers health: It gives the same results in cases of coughs, catarrhs, hooping coughs and influenza. In comparing this syrup with the other sold under the same name, it will be easy to recognize the superfority of this preparation.

Therefore to avoid any substitution, please to require the bottle the signature: Grimault and Co.

exhibited sure signs of common sense, justice and grati-tude. Pensions to such public officers as ours would be evidence of extreme folly.

The chief duty of your representatives at the next meeting of the Legislative Council, will be to canmine the contract we are about to make with Canada, and I there are in it any conditions detrimental to the interests of this colony, to exhibit their injustice and demand amendment.

I am no orator. The majority of those who try to be companied a process processing the contract of the colonial are process processed, they forced that the feet elequent are merely nonsensical; they forget that this is a practical age, and that a grain of common sense is better than a ton of chaff. Fronchitis is generally cured by taking the properly Pectoral in small and frequent doses, by the publish the certificates of them here, or do more a sesure the public that its qualities are fully named.

Ayer's Ague Cure.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Qulnine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its curer in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. One price is gratified by the acknowledgments we cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed. Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Aver & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.
